Welcome Message from the President of European Athletics

I am delighted to welcome everyone to Istanbul for the 37th edition of the European Athletics Indoor Championships.

This is a historic occasion as it is the first time that one of our major events has been staged in Türkiye but having these championships here reflects the impact that the country has had on European athletics in recent years.

Türkiye has become highly successful on the international stage across a whole range of disciplines, especially distance running, and I am sure its athletes will be inspired to produce superlative performances in front of their home crowd.

Staging these championships in Türkiye this year also means two significant landmarks in the country's athletics history can be appropriately recognised.

It is 75 years since Ruhi Saroalp – who was also Türkiye's first ever European Athletics Championships medallist in 1950 – won his country's first medal at a major international championships when he took the triple jump bronze at the London 1948 Olympic Games.

The Championships are also being staged just a few months after the Turkish Athletics Federation celebrated its centenary in 2022.

The venue for these Championships, the Atakoy Athletics Arena, is one of the best indoor facilities in Europe and will provide a magnificent backdrop.

This will be the first time that it has staged our premier indoor competition in Europe but the Arena has acquired a tremendous reputation in little more than a decade since it was opened.

It was built to stage the 2012 World Athletics Indoor Championships, a memorable success which demonstrated Turkish organisational expertise and the country's noted hospitality to the full, and has staged almost every Balkan Indoor Championships since then so athletes from many countries competing here will already be familiar with the arena.

However, these Championships take place in the shadow of the terrible earthquake that struck this country less than a month ago.

All our thoughts are with those who lost loved ones and also those that suffered terrible losses of other dimensions such as their homes and livelihoods.

Serious discussions took place about whether it was appropriate for these Championships to go ahead in such tragic circumstances but, in the end, all parties agreed they could provide some hope and have a positive impact on the country and its people.

However, these Championships will not be the same as others. Consequently, we are toning-down the usual celebratory side-events and activities and focussing instead on the safety of our athletes and on providing them with the competition itself, along with providing help and support to the people of Türkiye.

With this in mind, I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of European Athletics to offer my sincere thanks to the Turkish Athletics Federation and to all the officials and volunteers working with the Istanbul 2023 Local Organising Committee for all their hard work and commitment.

Dobromir Karamarinov
European Athletics President

Local Organising Committee's Welcome Message

Dear athletics fans,

As the Local Organization Committee, we are proud bring the European Athletics family together for a special purpose. While we're making extraordinary efforts to organize the European Athletics Indoor Championships in a manner befitting our country, we were devastated by news we received on a morning shortly before kick-off. It was biggest destructions in the history of Türkiye after the twin earthquakes in Southern region, we also mourned thousands of people that we lost.

In such hard conditions, we prepared for the championships with the support of our Ministry and other stakeholders. We undertook a top-to-bottom renovation of the Ataköy Athletics Hall, which bore the burden of athletics in Turkey for 11 years.

The star names of European athletics will come to İstanbul for these championships and extend their solidarity with Turkey. We already received quite a number of donations and we aim to make use of the possibilities to raise awareness during the course of the championships. With this event, which will be broadcast live in 60 countries, we will prove that Turkey can overcome this hardship even in the most dire conditions.

As you acknowledge rightfully, statistics sheets are an important part of professional sports, but in athletics, it's surely more than this. It's an essential element of athletics. It gives us a great perspective and awareness about the performances that we witness in the field. Thus, I would like to warmly thank the EA statisticians who work tirelessly to make such a great source for athletics enthusiasts.

During the course of the four-day European Athletics Indoor Championships, gold medals will be given in 26 disciplines. We want to carry İstanbul 2023 to a special place in an atmosphere that will impassion millions of people, on the stands and before screens alike, with each quest for a medal.
